In this theory, Stuart Hall says, the intended meaning and what is interpreted in a message can be different [3]. Attitude theory is a theory that can change a person's power through the authority of the individual's personal voice. This theory discusses the relationship between master and slave. Although masters and slaves live in the same environment, they have different knowledge and experiences. This is due to their different positions in social life. Perspective theory gives women the authority to have and voice their own experiences and opinions. Women's point of view is not just a point of view or the way women know something, but furthermore as evidence of the existence of women in the world [4].

4. FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS
The film begins with a scene of Mulan who will come after an arranged marriage for the umpteenth time. She needs to dress up beautifully and being beautiful is an obligation as a woman. But Mulan made a number of mistakes and she was ridiculed by the candidates. Mulan was criticized and considered not a woman who should be. This is related to how many people used to think that women were just decorations that could be judged beautiful [6]. Then, one day, the king gave orders to send 1 boy from each House to join the army against the Huns, the last group of people to terrorize China's peace. Mulan's father, as the only man in the family forced to urinate, will follow the king's orders. It is not a problem for his old father divided by the army. But due to his age and foot injury, diving into the field is not something that is possible. This resulted in a gloomy atmosphere in the Mulan family. And Mulan felt she had to do something about this. Mulan decides to replace her father in the army. He took his father's armor and cut his hair before he left and disguised himself as a boy. Because girls can't follow the war.

Mulan practiced as a soldier. Although she is a common woman who will art defend herself, Mulan turns out smart enough to follow every training and always produce dodgy techniques. disguise he enough good too, so no anyone suspect will type sex from Mulan. That thing until soldiers who are in one command with Mulan must face the Huns. Friends Mulan 's warriors were greatly pressed by the Huns. They all is at in condition life and death before Mulan plays her brain and came up with a crushing idea pile very thick snow on the mountain with the bomb they bring. This results in Avalanche falling snow on the Huns, and forcing them to back off because of the number of fatalities obtained on the side of them. Mulan acts very smart, clever, and very brave in protecting those around them. Fighting that, though won by China, still resulted in a wound on Mulan herself. This thing made him faint and treated by hand. Commanders and doctors are there. And when that's where Mulan 's secret is revealed. Everyone who was originally helped by Mulan, reverses them and back hates Mulan because he is a woman. Certainly, the commander believes her well. Commander sued for killing Mulan when that too. However Yes go without touching Mulan is the same once and took Mulan out of the command. That shapes the remaining goodness for a soldier to lie to the commander. This shows how women experience much exclusion only because they are a woman.

Walking without directions in the former war, Mulan finds facts that several Huns, namely leaders as well as a number of soldier elites endure from Avalanche snow is going on. And planning to attack China with methods to kill their king. Mulan can give up if this happens and soon hurry up going to the capital kingdom, place commander sheng and the command she leads will stop. Mulan shows how after he reviled and cursed only because she, a woman, still permanently showed her concern. Fixed Mulan thinks about the safety of her country. Moment she until she succeeds, meets command and tells everything she listens. But Sheng didn't ignore Mulan as a result he feels betrayed by Mulan. Everyone doesn't heed Mulan's words. But Mulan doesn't give up and decides to move with her army without any suspicion as well as help Mulan. Mulan cleverly uses old techniques taught by him as a Woman. That is dance, use fans, and more to defeat the Huns who had caught the king. Following her services, Mulan is given a medal award from the King. And Mulan gets confession from all the Chinese residents because he has saved the king. Mulan did not move to help the king because he wanted an award or reward, he was only convinced that China ‘s peace must be guarded.
Mulan shows many very positive attitudes. Mulan is a very firm person on the goal. He wants to replace her father for going to war to protect her country. This thing is not easy, because Mulan is not used to life as a soldier. But because her determination is already very strong, Mulan runs everything with fiery spirit. He is convinced that own physique won't become a hindrance a little bit for her control technique to defend himself and war. Just like now where women have had various types of jobs. From mother House stairs, up to a lift iron, boxer, athlete, etc. Difference physique Among boys and girls of course there is. But not things that are not possible for a woman penetrate limitations. Mulan is also very respectful to Mark, the brotherhood that he formed in the army Commander Sheng.

Mulan will stand by to help those in need. Even in the middle of a critical moment war with the Huns, Mulan remains thinking clearly to come up with a strategy that saves many of her partners. and thing this avenged how her colleagues help Mulan in the mission to save the king who was captured by the Huns. Although he was once abandoned by her comrades after Mulan's secret is revealed, he permanently believes that rope brotherhood is permanently real. Element this could correlate with today’s, where we need guard rope brotherhood and mutual help. We should always have an abstinence spirit to do what we consider right. one the most interesting scenes is when Mulan saves the king from the Huns. In the scene, Mulan uses very feminine techniques to defeat the Huns. According to the writer, this shows that as a woman who respects equality, we should always follow men. As strong and brave, women can hug their feminist side, even moment they believe will gender equality, free woman for Becomes strong and valiant, or Becomes gentle and smart. women can become whatever they want to do. Mulan is a soldier, but he has no leave lesson. She is very feminine and even could change technique that Becomes her strength.
